COTTON MARKET. NEW YORK, January 16.—During the week the market for cotton on the spot has been very dull, but much stronger in tone. Few small lots have been taken by spinners, and the fransactions with exporters have been limited to small lots which were wanted to fill engaged freight-room. For future delivery there has been steady improvement, and the highest figures reached were ½c, above those of list Friday week. The full improvement was not sustained, but there is a very firm feeling in trade.
